MPC...THE MODEL EVERYTHING COMPANY

In 1981, MPC showed the kind of leadership and innovation to make it the fastest growing model kit company in the hobby industry. In 1982, MPC is growing again. . .into the Model EVERYTHING Company. After firmly establishing itself as the leader in automotive and licensed kits, MPC is now making a major commitment to all segments of the model kit market, from basic day-in day-out cars, ships and airplanes, to the latest and most exciting licenses, plus some of the most unique new categories of product on the market.

That commitment extends much further than the largest product introduction in the industry. MPC is committed to help build the market with the biggest program of consumer advertising and promotion ever seen in the kit business. MPC is doubling its advertising media spending over its 1981 level, which was already the largest of any kit company. And we are doing it with the most creative advertising ever directed toward the modeler, from the young Snap modeler to the builder of our top-of-the-line Master Piece Collection.

MPC is also starting the most wide-ranging consumer promotion to ever hit the kit market. . .the GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY™ promotion. Starting with all new kits for 1982, repeat model builders of all ages can earn credit toward their choice of additional bonus kits, direct from MPC, for every kit that they buy. This program can result in a 20% savings on the modeler's kit dollar, and will keep him coming back into the kit department. . .for more MPC kits.

Look to MPC, the growth leader for YOUR growth in kits for 1982.

- The best selling basics
- Innovative new product categories
- The strongest licenses
- Heaviest advertising
- GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY™ promotion

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY™ PROMOTION

Research shows that the average modeler builds over five kits per year. This repeat modeler is as important to increasing kit sales as is the new modeler. Now MPC is giving the repeat purchaser the chance to earn BONUS kits with every model that he buys in the GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY™ promotion.

Starting with all new items for 1982, every MPC kit will carry from 2 to 10 GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY tokens:

- Golden Wheels™
- Golden Wings™
- Golden Anchors™
- Golden Bones™
- Golden Stripes™

The modeler collects any of these tokens and earns credit toward his choice of over 30 selections from across our complete kit line. . .FREE. For only 10 tokens, he can get a helicopter, a fighter airplane, a destroyer or a set of military figures. For as many as 100 tokens, he can select from one of our fine Master Piece Collection. Or he can stop at one of 5 other levels of redemption, depending on what the modeler wants to build. Details are included inside every MPC Golden Opportunity kit.

He is also encouraged to try different types of models. A car modeler can earn a bonus airplane. An airplane modeler can have fun with a bonus dinosaur. A Snap modeler can earn his first glue-together as a bonus.

It is a Golden Opportunity for the modeler to save 20% by earning a bonus kit, while having fun with the kits he buys.

The GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY promotion will also be appearing in a wide variety of publications as a part of the huge MPC media plan for 1982. Now modelers will know they can get more for buying MPC kits.

Look for the Golden Opportunity bullet on all your kits, and get more modeling for your money. . .from MPC.

The Best Models Come From The Best Kits.

BIG SCALE AIRCRAFT

1-4604 Ju87 B Stuka

The biggest and most intricate models of these classic fighters every built, these 1/24 scale kits have almost as much detail as the real aircraft. As the largest scale aircraft on the market, these kits also have more to offer than any other aircraft. Complete engines with removeable cowlings, sliding canopies with detailed cockpits and pilot figures, moveable control surfaces, weapons bays, and the ultimate in surface detailing is brought to life with the exact markings of aircraft flown by famous pilots.

Ju87 B Stuka The most notorious German aircraft of World War II, the ungainly Stuka was feared by the Allies as a symbol of the German Blitzkrieg. The slow Junkers Dive bomber was pulled out of combat on the Western Front when fighter opposition became stronger, but was still used all through the war in the East. Pilot and gunner figures, detailed Junkers Jumo engine and cockpit, and markings for a Stuka flown by top attack pilot Hans Rudel from the Russian Front highlight this 22½-inch wingspan model.

Spitfire Mk. IA The most famous and most successful British aircraft of World War II, the Spitfire became the symbol of victory in the Battle of Britain. The Mk. IA version was the first production type. Its distinctive elliptical wing design and high performance made it the equal of the invading Luftwaffe fighters. Features on the 18½-inch wingspan kit include the Rolls Royce V-12 engine, pilot figure, moveable landing gear, eight wing machine guns and decals for a Spit flown by Flight Lieutenant Deere during the Battle of Britain.

X X two

Focke-Wulf Fw 190A The first production version of Germany's best World War II fighter, the Fw190 was among the war's best combat aircraft. Flown by many of the top Luftwaffe aces, the Fw190A was usually able to outperform the Spitfire V against which it fought. Included in this 17-inch wingspan model is a highly detailed BMW radial engine, cockpit, machine guns, bombs and long range tanks. Markings are included for a Fw190A flown by Erich Rudorffer, 8th ranking German Ace with 222 victories.

P-51 D Mustang The highest performance land-based US fighter of World War II, the P-51 was responsible for the defeat of the Luftwaffe. Its long range, high altitude capability and strong armament enabled it to escort Allied bombers deep into Germany, perform ground attack missions, and light bombing missions. With a wingspan of 18½-inches, this Mustang carries detailed cockpit with pilot, many moveable assemblies, a complete Rolls Royce engine, wing guns with ammo belts, missiles, bombs, and long range tanks. Decals are for the Ridge Runner flown by Pierce McKennon.
